We (Singapore Free Press) insert another extract from the Review of the 7th December giving the results of the working of a large number of English Companies in 1886. As this is the third statement that has appeared, and as the two former tables have been amended by the companies themselves, the pre-

The percentage of losses and working exnenses have in some cases exceeded the revenue. and even the best of the offices cannot boast of of all these figures, we hear of reduced receipts in China and Japan, heavier responsibilities, and open declaration that the chief aim of the London offices is to carry on a war of Rates, until the Eastern local companies stop giving their supportors any bonus. As rates decline so much the merchants' commission fade and these agents will doubtless soon be calling for an increased remuneration. We hear of a bill that is likely to pass in Hongkong, taxing the Home Companies to support the Fire Brigade, and these additional expenses deducted from meagre receipts must, we should think, in time convince the Home Offices that they had better not have commenced a war of rates. The table as given in the Review is too comprohensive to quote in extenso, but we select those columns which show the most important facts. namely, the ratio of losses and working expenses to premiums. THE QUEEN OF SHOPKEEPERS AND HER STORY.

"Fyergane, who has been to Paris knows that manimoth shop the Bon Marche. Mr. Harriston; in his new book ("The Saone: a Summer Voyage"), gives some interesting particulars of the remarkable woman who i at the head of it. She is a native of a little village, Verjux, on the Saone, which " she left some years ago as a laundress, and finally, found herself in Paris, where she married a shopkeeper, who afterwards died, and she now keeps the shop. . . . The young Jaundress of Verjux is to-day the queen of all the shopkeepers in the world, and maintains her royalty after a fashion of her own. Madame Bouckaut is famous for three things-her wonderful businessabilities, her predictions wealth, and her untiring kindness of heart. Her shop is as vast as a Ministry of State, and probably requires at least as much ability for its government; her coffers are like a king's treasury, and her kindness rains benefits on all around her, She revisits occasionally the banks of the Szone, on her way to her Mediterranean villa. I wonder if the Parisian lady can recall to memory the hopes and anxieties of the poor young hundress of Verjux." Mr. Hamerton adds in a footnote: "She has just given £160,000 to the bonefit fund of her employes, in addition to £40,000 alleady given for the same purpose, and £20,000 for other expenses. These large sams are talked of in the papers, but I have often heard, in conversation, of most efficacious help given by her quite unostentatious. ly to persons or institutions that she considered deserving. The best feature in her benevolence is not so much its vastness o scule as a thoughtful anxiety to produce the happiest results." Finally, Mr. Hamerton remarks that Madame Boucicaut has underraken to build a bridge over the Sanne at her native village, which will cost her about

'Arry is rather one aspect of a class than a class of itself. " Nemo omnibus horis 'Arry est." During working hours he is invisible: not a trace of him is apparent in streets or shops. It is this double, life of 'Arry that makes him interesting. There is something almost touching in the contemplation of the struggle that he must daily endure to keep in check those high spirits TAVENTS IN HONGKONG AND THE which, bottled up for ted hours, gush forth with such unpleasant impetuosity as soon as he has lightly stepped over the shutter of this prison and is in the street. For the essence of Arry is high spirits. It is the characteristic that distinguishes him from others of his social class—the young man COMMERCIAL and Social Occurrences who goes to Exeter Hall or the Institute, if WRECKS, SHIPPING CASUALTIES, FIRES, he be of a religious or literary turn, and the Typhoons, &c. old young man with rusty black coat, a wife, and quiet tastes. High spirits, then, are the main element of 'Arry; and as soon as they flag he disappears. So it is rare to meet with one on the shady side of thirty. A bald or gray-headed 'Arry has never been seen. Marriage, like age, is fatal to bim. What holy water and printer's ink are to the witch, and cock-crowing to the ordinary domestic ghost, that is the sight of a weddingring to 'Arry. has now an assured position in its large circulation in Ceylon, Bouthern hind even Contral and Northern India, the Straits Settlements, Sumatra, Java, Borneo, Northern Australia, Queensland, Central America, Natal, Mauritius, and the West Indies. From all sub-tropical planting sottlements we have had cordial upproval of the publication and an encouraging measure of support. The English Indian and Colonial Press have spoken in commendatory terms of the T. A., as also Directors of Public Kiang-ping Gardens from Sir Joseph Hooker, F.R.S. downwards, and so have all planters. No planter should be without it.

As a medium for English, American and Australian ADVERTISEMENTS of goods uitable for the tropics, India, as well as Ceylon the Straits Settlements, Java, and West Indies or connected with agriculture, the Tropical Ch'ron Kamrys Agriculturist stands unrivalled, the work being Columbo ropean and American agriculturists. Being a Falcon Monthly Periodical, the Tropical Agriculturist Rapid lies on the table and is very often referred to during each month. Mr. W. T. Thiselton Dyer, F.L.S., C.M.G., the T. A., refers to it as "an astonishing repertory of everything relating to the economic botany of the East." For the sale of plants, seeds, machinery Hector implements, &c., used in tropical (tea, sugar Hoihow fibres, &c.) agriculture, no better advertising medium exists.
